Job Hunting for Pilots: Networking Your Way to a Flying Job

by Gregory N. Brown

Aviation is a small world and the pilot group even smaller. Have a business card made for yourself, and pass it around to people in the your odds of finding good pilot employers, make every effort to get to know the pilots and industry contacts around you, and network like your career depends on it!