English Furniture - A History and Guide

by John Cloag

This is the earliest style of furniture to have been produced natively, with pieces generally dating from around 1680 to 1730. The period is named after England's